- How do the products and company support you and your family?

THE GREEN COMPASS FOUNDER STORY

I'd like to begin by sharing how Green Compass was born:

- Green Compass Founder, and President, Meredith Cook, was not feeling herself mentally and physically after the birth of her second son.
- Her brother, Brooks Bailey researched the available CBD for his athletic recovery, and recommended it to Meredith.
- Meredith tried several CBD brands, and while feeling slightly better, she was unable to find a CBD brand that was transparent, consistent, and clean that she could trust for herself and for her family.
- Sterling Cook, Green Compass CEO and Meredith's husband had spent his career working with organic commercial farms and production.
- After careful evaluation and identifying a need in the market, Meredith and Sterling chose to partner with Adam and George Wooten—long-time family-friends, and six generation farmers who went to NC State, one of the nation's top agricultural schools. They were also pioneers in the hemp pilot program in North Carolina.

- Together they cultivated Meredith’s vision of producing clean, quality, transparent hemp. The product immediately began to change their lives, alongside the many friends and family members who began trying it. Green Compass quickly became known as the leading brand, and category creator of something we call “Hemp-Based Wellness”.

WHAT IS CBD AND HOW DOES IT WORK?

So, you might be thinking, what exactly is CBD and how does it work?

- CBD is one of the fastest growing and most talked about health and wellness products on the market today.
- CBD, also known as Hemp Flower Extract has lower levels of THC, .03 or less. The low levels of THC supports safe use of CBD daily without any psychoactive properties..
- CBD is a chemical compound found in the cannabis plant with properties that can aid in reducing anxiousness, nausea, pain and so much more.
- Now, without getting too deep into the amazing science tonight, it is important to understand that CBD interacts with the endocannabinoid system or ECS, which is made up of a series of receptors located throughout our body. Only recently discovered, these receptors can help assist in the management of pain, stress, sleep, regulate appetite and improve motor and neurological function.
- When taken daily, CBD boosts our natural endocannabinoid system, which results in increasing balance within the body and mind.

WHY IS GREEN COMPASS THE TRUSTED LEADER IN HEMP-BASED WELLNESS?

- Our hemp is grown in USDA Certified Organic fields, which means they are free of heavy metals and no chemical herbicide or pesticide is used.
- We are vertically integrated, which means, the company owns and controls each part of the planting, harvesting, innovation, manufacturing, and fulfillment processes.
- We use small batch CO2 extraction to separate the beneficial compounds from the plant. It takes more time but produces a higher quality hemp oil.
- Our lab conforms to the GLP/GMP standards and uses efficient processes without degradation of beneficial compounds so that the product quality is as high as possible.
- We utilize stringent independent third-party lab testing to ensure efficacy and safety.
- And, every product is backed by a no-risk, 30-day money-back guarantee.
